ANNUAL CONVENTION CONFERENCE ON COLLEGE COMPOSITION AND COMMUNICATION

The CCCC's 46th Annual Convention will be held in Washington, DC, March 23-25, at the Hyatt Grand and the Holiday Inn Crowne Plaza.

The theme of the 1995 Convention is "Literacies, Technologies, and Responsibilities." We live and work at a time when the concept of literacy is becoming increasingly complex. Our new understanding of literacy as multiple sets of situated practices across several media enlarges how we understand ourselves as writing teachers, but at the same time brings into question how we theorize writing and composing, how we study practices of reading and writing, how we understand the history of literacy education, how we design and administer writing programs, and finally, how we teach writing.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF TEACHERS OF ENGLISH AND THE INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION FOR THE TEACHING OF ENGLISH

This conference is being cosponsored by the NCTE and the IFTE in connection with and preceding the 6th International IFTE Conference, "Restructuring Language and Learning for the 21st Century: Connecting with Our Classrooms" will take place July 7 - 9 at New York University, New York, NY.

This NCTE International Conference is open to all who wish to attend. The IFTE Conference, which immediately follows, will be a working conference limited to invited delegates from IFTE member countries and other invited participants concerned with teaching English language arts around the world.

"Restructuring Language and Learning for the 21st Century: Connecting with Our Classrooms" will begin with colloquia and ten plenary sessions on Friday, July 7. Plenary dialogues will be followed by an opening reception hosted by NCTE.
